The Department of Special Education in the College of Education offers a program leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Inclusive and Special Education. This program will prepare special educators from diverse cultural backgrounds to better support students with disabilities in under-resourced communities across Illinois. Students in this program will learn to support students with disabilities to:

- Assess, plan, and teach students in general education, resource and separate settings
- Monitor academic, behavioral, and social-emotional skills
- Use collaborative models and strategies in schools and classrooms
- Advocate for and teach self-determination skills
- Support and work alongside families, organizations, and agencies to streamline life transitions across grades and into adulthood.
