School of Literatures, Cultural Studies and Linguistics

Contact Information:
Campus Location: 1722 University Hall (UH)
(312) 996-5218
lcsl.uic.edu

Administration:
Director, José Camacho
Associate Director, Elizabeth Loentz

The School of Literatures, Cultural Studies and Linguistics serves as the administrative umbrella over the following departments and programs:

- Classics and Mediterranean Studies (Arabic, Classics, Modern Greek, Latin)
- French and Francophone Studies
- Germanic Studies
- Hispanic and Italian Studies (Hispanic Linguistics, Hispanic Literary Studies, Spanish, Italian and Italian American Studies, Portuguese)
- Linguistics (Chinese, Computer Science and Linguistics, Japanese, Linguistics, Korean)
- Polish, Russian, and Lithuanian Studies (Polish, Russian, Lithuanian, Central and Eastern European Studies)
- International Studies
- Religious Studies (Catholic Studies, Jewish Studies, Religious Studies)
- Language and Culture Learning Center (LCLC)
- Moving Image Arts

The units within the school conduct original research and instruction on literary, cultural, and linguistics theories and practices in many languages and traditions. Faculty members within the school also have research and teaching interests in the moving image arts and religious and international studies. Its departments and programs are the primary source of instruction in foreign and classical languages at the basic and advanced levels and offer numerous majors and minors, which expose students to linguistic and cultural knowledge that responds to our rapidly globalizing world.

For information on individual units and their degree programs, please visit their home pages.

- Department of Classics and Mediterranean Studies
- Department of French and Francophone Studies
- Department of Germanic Studies
- Department of Hispanic and Italian Studies
- Department of Linguistics
- Department of Polish, Russian, and Lithuanian Studies
- International Studies Program
- Religious Studies Program
- Language and Culture Learning Center (LCLC)
- Moving Image Arts Program

Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies

The Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies offers a unique opportunity to explore and examine literature, film and visual media, and popular culture produced outside of the United States in courses taught in English by the departments and programs of the School of Literatures, Cultural Studies and Linguistics. Students will be invited to critically engage and dialogue with difference, cultural and linguistic diversity, variety of expression, and

For the minor, students take courses on literature, film and other visual media, and popular culture from outside the geographical United States, taught in English, with texts in translation.

Minor

- Minor in Comparative Cultural Studies